

Come to this free info session and we'll demystify our entire application, screening, and selection process.

Tuesday, November 6 5:30 - 7 p.m.
Downtown Library
100 W. 10th Avenue
Eugene, OR

seattle@peacecorps.gov | 800.424.8550

Already have the info you need?
APPLY NOW.

www.peacecorps.gov/application

Pacifica Forum presents FREE SPEECH vs ZIONIST POWER

Free lecture by America's most prominent revisionist historian

MARK WEBER

Director of the Institute for Historical Review

Friday, November 2, 7:00 p.m.
University of Oregon, McKenzie Hall, Room 129
Near 11th Ave. and Kincaid St.

Board chairwoman Kelly Rasmusson says the center has continued its speech programs unabated in the interim while the audiology department has continued many services thanks to clinicians who stayed on, help from Oregon Health Science University in Portland and the assistance of local eye, ear, nose and throat specialists.

One of the five audiologists who resigned has returned and the center has hired audiologist Todd Landsberg from North Carolina. Landsberg and newly appointed Medical Director David Tom will be officially welcomed at an open house and reception from 5 to childhood, is a g

ing to Hamble perspective that us," says Hambl

The Eugene established in Eugene Hearing organized to help
for their children has grown from assisting nearly the patient load months when no

Happening people BY PAUL NEFF

LIN SILVAN & ROBERT JACOBUCCI

"We met in a dance hall in South Jersey 20 years ago," says Lin Silvan, and soon afterwards she and Robert Jacobucci were married. Retired from her work as a corporate training consultant and his as a physician, they danced their way around the U.S. "We hit every ballroom," says Silvan. "We had several." The couple was also researching a place to settle. "We visited Eugene in '97, 2000, and moved in 2002. We found a lot of kindred spirits. After our marriage, Silvan and Jacobucci became vegans. They found that various ailments went away. Surprised to find no "veg" events in '03 and '04, they founded the Eugene Veg Education Fund. "Food choices have a big impact on the environment," says Silvan. "Food choices have a big impact on the environment," says Silvan. EVEN's third annual Peaceful Potluck will be held at 2 pm Sunday, Nov. 18 in the LCC cafeteria. For details and eugeneveg.org.

Lane Area Herbicide Spray

• Oregon law requires that health care professionals report suspected pesticide illnesses to the Department of Health within 24 hours. Call Lane County Department of Health at 682-4035; Oregon Dept. of Health at (971) 673-0400; or the Pesticide Analytical Response Center at 1-800-452-3030. If you are made ill by a pesticide exposure, make sure you get medical attention as soon as possible.

Compiled by Jan W. 342-342-8332, www.